DEAR ANDREAS,

Hello

Cati

Dear Cati,

Thank you very much for your letter. I know it must have been difficult for you to write it. I wish you could give me a little more information, but I guess you're fine.

I'm staying at my parents' house, living like a student again (I don't recall it being this boring). I intend to come back very soon, but my father has some plans for me that I don't think I'll be able to avoid.

Mates and Miss Herrick send you their regards.

Take good care of yourself, please.

Best Regards,

Andreas.

Dear Andreas,

~~I am~~ ~~I'm~~ sorry you are ~~So~~ bored. ~~I am~~ I'm bored too.

~~So~~ Say Hello ~~to~~ to ~~Mr~~ ~~Mrs~~ ~~Mat~~ them.

Cati

Hello, doctor Marino, Rebeca here. Cati is wasting all my school paper just to say hello. She ~~didn't~~ didn't want to use this one because it's full of erasures, ~~so~~ but I'm not going to give her another sheet (this is the 8th she ruined).

I'm reading your letters to her because she's not yet able to do it by herself (she's still learning the alphabet). Could you make your handwriting more clear, please? Sometimes I can't read a thing.

Thank you.

Dear Cati,

How are you? I hope you're fine.

Your friend Rebeca asked me to write more clearly, is this better? I wish you could learn to read faster. It's very annoying to write knowing that another person is reading it – hello, Rebeca –. I can't wait to return to my office and my patients because (I never thought I'd say this), my parents are driving me crazy.

Mateo has finally recovered and requests I tell you that he misses you. And, in case you're wondering, so do I.

Please, be safe.

Fond Regards,

Andreas.

~~Dear~~

Dear Andreas,

i am ~~fine~~ fine. i ~~hope~~ hope you are too. it is raining and i would ~~like~~ like to see you.

love,

Cati

It's Rebeca again. Really, doctor Marino, your handwriting ~~is~~ is madness!

Are you planning to come back any time soon? Cati's losing her social skills day by day since you've been ~~gone~~ gone: she spends a couple of hours learning to read and write and the rest of the day wandering around the woods. I fear she's sleeping inside a hollow tree.

Dear Cati,

Don't sleep inside trees!

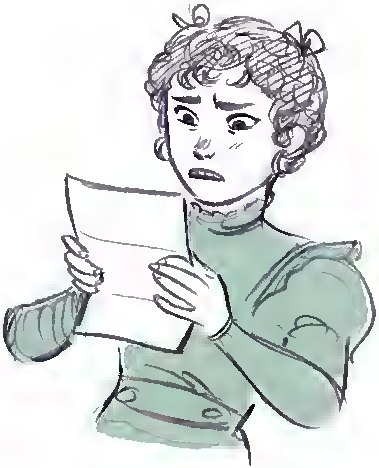
I think my commitments here are finished.
I hope to be back home for Christmas.

Love,
Andreas.

Hey, Cati, this is Mateo! My uncle's left for lunch, he, he! I'm back at school, you know, and everything is so boring, but I'll try to pay a visit to you during Christmas holidays. I have to talk to you about Miss Herrick — I mean Haylee —: we are the best of friends now.

Regarding my uncle: oh, I wish you could see him now! So pale, that long face... I think he has lost his (limited) sense of humour. He refuses to talk about you, but everytime I say your name he flinches in his chair.

Drat, I think he's coming up the stairs.
See you soon!!



Did you understand everything?
If not, here you are the easy version:

DeaR AndReas,

Hello.

Cati

Dear Cati,

Thank you very much for your letter, I know it must have been difficult for you to write it. I wish you could give me a little more information, but I guess you're fine.

I'm staying at my parent's house, living like a student again (I don't recall it being this boring). I intend to come back very soon, but my father has some plans for me that I don't think I'll be able to avoid.

Mateo and Miss Herrick send you their regards.

Take good care of yourself, please.

Best regards,

Andreas

Dear Andreas,
SoRRy yoU're boRed. I'm boRed Too. Say hello To Them.

Cati

Hello, doctor Marino, Rebeca here. Cati is wasting all my school paper just to say hello. She didn't want to use this one because it's full of erasures, but I'm not going to give her another sheet (this is the 8th she's ruined!).

I'm reading your letters to her because she's not yet able to do it by herself (she's still learning the alphabet). Could you make your handwriting more clear, please? Sometimes I can't read a thing.

Thank you.

Dear Cati,

How are you? I hope you're fine.

Your friend Rebeca asked me to write more clearly—is this better? I wish you could learn to read faster. It's very annoying to write knowing that another person is reading it –hello, Rebeca–. I can't wait to return to my office and my patients because (I never thought I'd say this), my parents are driving me crazy.

Mateo has finally recovered and requests I tell you that he misses you. And, in case you're wondering, so do I.

Please, be safe.

Fond regards,

Andreas

DeaR AndReas,

I'm fine, I hope you are too. It's raining and I would like to see you.

Love,

Cati

It's Rebeca again. Really, doctor Marino, your handwriting is madness!

Are you planning to come back any time soon? Cati's losing her social skills day by day since you've been gone: she spends a couple of hours learning to read and write and the rest of the day wandering around the woods. I fear she's sleeping inside a hollow tree!

Dear Cati,

Don't sleep inside trees!
I think my commitments here are finished. I hope to be back home for Christmas.

Love,

Andreas

Hey, Cati, this is Mateo! My uncle's left for lunch, hehe. I'm back at school, you know, and everything is so horing, but I'll try to pay a visit to you during Christmas holidays. I have to talk to you about Miss Herrick –I mean Haylee–: we are the best of friends now!

Regarding my uncle: oh, I wish you could see him now! So pale, that long face... I think he has lost his (limited) sense of humour. He refuses to talk ahout you, but every time I say your name he flinches in his chair.

Drat, I think he's coming up the stairs. See you very soon!

I made all the handwriting,
but I took the paper textures from:

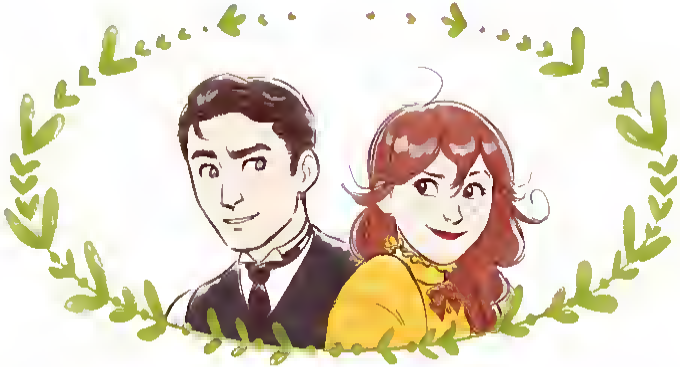
mwmax deviantart.com

designercandies.net

And the calligraphy logo from:

creativealys.com

Instagram @maripaz_villar



Miss Abbott and the doctor

STORY + ART

Maripaz Villar

Become my patron on patreon

patreon.com/Maripaz_Villar